AFTERWORD

I thought S-chan in my class looked so cool in her judo gear, so I joined the local judo club, but I broke a bone while getting thrown and my mom got mad at me. I also thought O-chan in my class looked cool in her kendo gear and wanted to join the club, but my mom got mad at me then, too. I joined the volleyball club but couldn't keep up with practice and dropped out after one day. I kept at it with the dance club only because I liked listening to my friend's stories. I was the manager of the track team, too, and a bunch of other stuff. I was always trying to be part of some sort of sports activity, looking back, it seems like a lot of wasted effort.

More than anything, I was in love with the idea of being a girl who loves sports. So compared to me, Fuji-san is actually pretty determined.

I hope you'll all cheer us on for a little while. Though she's not really a character who makes you want to cheer for her.
